the Passenger and Power Company to instruct his men to keep on the alert for evidence of disorder, and to do everything possible to prevent trouble of any kind. This the Chief promised to do, and all his men were instructed to remain on duly and to be ready for any emergency. The action was viewed by sympathizers of the strikers unfavorably. They declared that the street car men were all gentlemen, and each one in himself would see that no disorder would prevail, and that no injury would be done the company's property.

If it is found necessary to-day, the street car men will run a line of conveyances from Swansboro to Seventh and Hull Streets, and connect there with the line to Richmond, so that all whose employment takes them to Richmond may get there with little inconvenience.

JACKSON, KY., June 17.—The arguments in the case of Curtis Jett and Thomas White, on trial for the murder of J. B. Marcum, were not concluded when court adjourned late to-night, and the case will not go to the jury until tomorrow noon. The preponderence of opinion still seems to be that the death penalty will not be given, and that the jury is likely to hang between life imprisonment and acquittal.

People were attracted much more by the eloquence of the attorneys than by the statements of witnesses, and it was like a curcus day. One of the curlosities for all to see was the dark spot on the courthouse floor where the stain of Marcum's blood is still visible. In the court room were pointed out the mothers and other relatives of the prisoners and also of the leading feudists.

One of the first things on the programme was the giving of the lie in court while Judge French was making the opening argument for the defense. Two lawyers were prevented from coming to blows by cliicers of the court. After Judge Redwine threatened to send one of the attorneys to jail for contempt and reprimanded another for using unbecoming language the proceedings continued, while Atorneys Golden and O'Neil, for the defense, and Hurst and Marcum, a brother of the victim, surrounded by the widows and orphans of his brother and of other victims of the feed, was delivered under the most impressive circumstances. The case will be closed to-morrow by Commonwealth's Attorney Byrd.

B. J. Ewen, the principal witness against Jett and White, escaped to-day with most of his family to Lexington, interty-three miles from Jackson. Major Emil. Alen to-day earnestly advised Mrs. B. J. Ewen to leave Jackson. It was but the expected when she repiace. "I will stay here until our interests are properly protected and our contracts fulfilled. If they want to kill me they will find me here for at least a month."

NEW YORK, June 17.—Twenty-one horses are announced as startors in the Suburban Handicap to-morrow and it seems likely that the race will be run over a muddy track, with strong probability of rain. On the eve of the great race, E. R. Thomas, the young millionaire, a recent recruit to the turf, has furnished another sensation by purchasing the contract of Jockey Ries from L. V. Bell. Mr. Thomas paid Mr. Bell $60,000 for Hermis a month ago, and is said to have siven $5.000 for Rie's contract, which runs for two years. The boy's salary, it is said, will be $10,000 a year. As trainers look at it to-night with a muddy track in sight, the general opinion is that Waterboy will will has recovered his old form. Mud, however, does not suit Hermis, while it greatly helps the chances of Major Daingerfield, The latter is likely to be the post favorite, Irish Lad takes up 12 pounds for his victory in the Brooklyn Handicap, Goldsmith is at $5 to 2, and Major Daingerfield $1 to 1 in the betting forecasts to-night, with from $5 to 8 to 1 against Irish Lad Colonel Bill, Hermis, Igniter, Africander and Heno.

AN ESTEEMED NEGRO GONE

Rev. Richard Wells Passes Away at a Ripe Age.

A LEADER OF HIS RACE

Won Wide Fame in Years Gone by in His Dispute With Rev. John Jasper on the Movements of the Sun.

The Rev. Richard Wells, pastor emeritus of the Ebenezer Baptist Church, genuine colored man of the old scho and a unique and interesting character in the life of the city, died Tuesday afternoon at a ripe old age, after a period of declining health brought about by his advanced years.

The old man follows to his grave his contemporary, the noted John Jasper, of "sun do move" fame, with whom he, in the days gone by, waged many a battle of words. The two were alike in that they were born and bred in the days of long ago. In other respects they were totally unlike, particularly whom Jasper began to discourse concerning the planetary movements. At this time Wells arease in his might and scored his fellow-minister, and the battle began to continue until death itself moved one of them.

Both are now gone, and in the death of Wells, following that of Jasper, there is removed from the life of the city one of its most striking characters. On all hands he was beloved and admired. He was in the truest sense of the word a gentleman, and his friends were by no means confined to his own race. The end came quietly and peacefully at his Duval Street home, where he had lived for so long. To-day his remains will lie in state at the Ebenezer Church, and to-morrow an elaborate funeral service will be held.

Wells was born more than seventy-five years ago, and even during the days of slavery was a man entrusted by his owners with responsible trusts. He had been the pastor of the Ebenezer Baptist Church, of this city, for more than thirty years, and during this long pastorate he was one of the most respected and conservative leader of his race. He was a trustee of the Richmond Theological Seminary from the time of its organization in 1857 as the Colver Institute. He attended the institution as a student for several years, but did not graduate.

Rev. Wells was hirtensely interested in the welfare of his race, He was a trustee of the Richmond Theological Seminary from the time of its organization in 1867 as the Colver Institute. He attended to have any merit at all went without his support. He was heartly interested in the will have a subst arrayed against each other as a result of it. Jasper preached his sermon over and over again, and upon each occasion he prefaced his remarks with a sarcastic reference to the Rev. Wells, Fincily a council of the colored Baptist churches was called and a truce was declared. The old soreness, however, continued. The BIG FUNERAL.

The dash of the aged and revered minister has cast a gloom over the colored population of the city, and many of his flock have visited the house. The body will lie in state in the main auditorium of the Ebenezer Church from 9 o'clock this morning until 9 o'clock Friday morning, and during this time the public will be admitted at all hours.
